08.01.2015 | Marketwired

TORONTO, ONTARIO--(Marketwired - Jan 8, 2015) - INV Metals ("INV Metals" or "Company") (TSX:INV) reports that the National Assembly of Ecuador has enacted, under the law titled "Organic Law for Production Incentives and Prevention of Tax Fraud", which became effective on December 29, 2014 various amendments to Ecuador's income tax code, including the introduction of the taxation of capital gains.

The Organic Law for Production Incentives and Prevention of Tax Fraud includes provisions for a capital gains tax on the profits derived from the direct or indirect sale of shares, ownership interests, other rights to capital representation, or other rights, that allow for exploration, exploitation, concession or similar activities by companies either domiciled or with permanent establishments in Ecuador.

The Company is in the process of analyzing the potential impact of the application of the new law and its regulations on the Company and its shareholders. INV Metals shareholders should consult their own tax advisors for advice on the applicability of the amendment to Ecuador's income tax code having regard to their particular circumstances.

The Company is in the final stages of completing a pre-feasibility study to determine the economics and potential value of its Loma Larga project under Ecuador's medium-scale mining category. All corporate and project expenditures continue to be minimized to the extent possible.
