

VANCOUVER, BC--(Marketwired - October 11, 2016) - Clean Commodities Corp. (TSX VENTURE: CLE) ("Clean Commodities" or the "Corporation") is pleased to announce that an inaugural phase one field exploration program is underway at the Corporation's Labrador Trough Ni-Cu-PGE Project in Quebec.

"With productive late-season weather conditions continuing at our Labrador Trough Ni-Cu-PGE Project we are pleased to have an inaugural exploration program underway with crews already on the ground at the project. The helicopter-supported exploration program consists of multiple field crews focused on sampling and evaluating our large-scale project," stated Ryan Kalt, Chief Executive Officer of Clean Commodities.

Subject to the results of the field program, the Corporation intends to review potential opportunities and funding options to conduct an airborne VTEM survey on some or all of the Corporation's Labrador Trough Ni-Cu-PGE Project during 2017.

The Corporation's Labrador Trough Project is adjacent to and surrounds both the Huckleberry and Sequoi projects being advanced by Northern Shield Resources Inc.

The Corporation engaged Dahrouge Geological Consulting Ltd. to perform the current exploration program.
