"Our results show strength in every metric; from increasing our revenue by nearly a third to its highest quarterly revenue ever - to significantly boosting our margins - all of our success is predicated on the strategy we have long focused on - to provide gold standard customer service via a fleet of high performance rigs," said Dave Harper, President and CEO of Geodrill. "Our dedication to customer service and safety, with well-established miners and exploration companies in West Africa, continues to drive business, as evidenced by our overall results, including the increase in meters drilled. Our new increased banking facilities will allow us to continue to finance our growth and capitalize on any potential opportunities that arise. Looking forward, with all of the elements in place to both maintain organic growth and capture market share growth, we will focus on maintaining solid margins while keeping pace with strong drilling activity in West Africa."

Non-IFRS Measures

EBITDA is defined as Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization and is used as a measure of financial performance. The Company believes EBITDA is useful to investors because it is frequently used by securities analysts, investors and other interested parties to evaluate companies in the industry. However, EBITDA is not a measure recognized by IFRS and does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS. EBITDA should not be viewed in isolation and does not purport to be an alternative to net income or gross profit as an indicator of operating performance or cash flows from operating activities as a measure of liquidity. EBITDA does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS and therefore may not be comparable to similarly titled measures presented by other publicly traded companies, and EBITDA should not be construed as an alternative to other financial measures determined in accordance with IFRS.

Additionally, EBITDA is not intended to be a measure of free cash flow for management's discretionary use, as it does not consider certain cash requirements such as capital expenditures, contractual commitments, interest payments, tax payments and debt service requirements. Please see the Company's MD&A for the three month period ended March 31, 2018 for the EBITDA reconciliation.
