06.09.2018 | GlobeNewswire

PHOENIX, Sept. 06, 2018 - Marathon Gold Corp. (OTC:MGDPF) (the "Company") CEO Phillip Walford is joining the latest "Stock Day" podcast with Uptick Newswire's Everett Jolly.

Walford updates Jolly on the Canadian company's current and future works, highlighted by the Valentine Lake project. Walford says a Preliminary Economic Assessment study shows the open pit area should produce around 190,000 ounces each year for the next decade.

This comes off the company's announcement this week it has found a possible new mining area just south of its Victory plant. Walford tells Jolly geologists are working to find one or two areas that may be as productive as Victory.

In the podcast, Walford also discusses the recent hiring of COO Robbert Borst. Walford tells Jolly that Borst was instrumental in leading the company's PEA for the Valentine Lake project.

In the meantime, Walford says the company plans to do another resource update in the next six months to a year.
