12.02.2019 | ACCESS Newswire

VANCOUVER, February 12, 2019 - Doubleview Capital Corp. ("Doubleview") (TSX-V: DBV, FRANKFURT: 1D4, OTC: DBLVF) is pleased to announce that an 88 km airborne VTEM™ geophysical field survey has been completed at its Red Spring copper-silver-zinc-gold property located north of Smithers, British Columbia.

MuchoCobre Resources Ltd. ("MuchoCobre") holds an option to acquire a 60% interest in the Red Spring property and has contracted Geotech Airborne Geophysical Surveys ("Geotech") of Aurora, Ontario to complete a detailed helicopter-borne Versatile Time Domain Electromagnetic (VTEM®) and Aeromagnetic geophysical survey of the property. The physical 88 km line survey has been completed and data will be processed by Geotech technical team. The joint geological team of Doubleview and MuchoCobre will conduct geological interpretations.

The geophysical information will supplement the existing database and guide further exploration, including drilling. Doubleview has been granted a multi-year area-based permit to establish a temporary camp and 20 diamond drill sites.

Doubleview's Red Spring property, located 120 km north of Smithers, British Columbia, is a "red bed" type copper-silver-zinc-gold deposit hosted by carbonate-rich horizons interbedded in mixed sedimentary and volcanic strata. Since 2012 Doubleview has conducted a series of geological and geochemical surveys of the property and has outlined 1800 metres by 850 metres mineralization target area of copper, silver, zinc and gold, where historic shallow drill holes intersected strong copper and silver values, including 0.54% copper and 0.61 oz/t silver over 136 feet.
