Samuel Pelaez, the Company's President, CEO, CIO and Director stated: "Our investments held up well in April, despite the broader junior resource equity market being weak. Junior resource equity markets reacted to the recent pullback in commodity prices. This pullback appears to have been driven by a rising U.S. dollar, as interest rate hikes in the U.S. are expected to outpace those of the Eurozone, Japan, and Switzerland. In addition, there was demand for U.S. dollar liquidity due to weaker macroeconomic conditions in China and the U.S. and to the uncertain geopolitical situation in Ukraine."

Derek Macpherson, Executive Chairman stated: "While our investment strategy continues to perform, our share price has declined, representing a greater than 50% discount to NAV at month-end. We believe this relates to a lack of market awareness. As such we plan to increase our marketing efforts as we continue to pursue strategic opportunities to expand our asset base."

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures:

This press release contains references to NAV or "net asset value per share" which is a non-GAAP financial measure. NAV is calculated as the value of total assets less the value of total liabilities divided by the total number of common shares outstanding as at a specific date. The term NAV does not have any standardized meaning according to GAAP and therefore may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other companies. There is no comparable GAAP financial measure presented in the Company's consolidated financial statements and thus no applicable quantitative reconciliation for such non-GAAP financial measure. The Company believes that the measure provides information useful to its shareholders in understanding the Company's performance, and may assist in the evaluation of the Company's business relative to that of its peers. This data is furnished to provide additional information and does not have any standardized meaning prescribed by GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for measures of performance prepared in accordance with GAAP, and is not necessarily indicative of other metrics presented in accordance with GAAP. Existing NAV of the Company is not necessarily predictive of the Company's future performance or the NAV of the Company as at any future date.
