VANCOUVER, Jan. 15, 2025 - Tactical Resources Corp. (TSXV: RARE | OTC: USREF) ("Tactical Resources" or the "Company"), a mineral exploration and development company focused on rare earth elements ("REEs"), is pleased to reflect on a year marked by significant advancements in its flagship Peak Project, progress in Phase 1 technical work, and a proposed business combination (the "Proposed Business Combination") with Plum Acquisition Corp. III, a Nasdaq-listed special purpose acquisition company ("Plum").

In 2024, Tactical Resources took steps to strengthen its position in the critical minerals market. The Proposed Business Combination with Plum, announced in August, positions the Company for a Nasdaq listing and would bolster its ability to address the growing demand for REEs within the U.S. Proceeds from the Proposed Business Combination would support Tactical Resources' efforts to accelerate production timelines and scale operations at the Peak Project, advancing its role in the U.S. REE supply chain.

Ranjeet Sundher, CEO of Tactical Resources, remarked, "This past year, 2024, has been a landmark year for Tactical Resources as we look to solidify our position in the U.S. REEs market. Our Proposed Business Combination with Plum is expected to enhance our access to capital raising opportunities and strategic partnerships and enable us to meet the rising demand for U.S. REEs amid growing geopolitical tensions. China's recently-announced ban on critical mineral exports to the U.S. underlines the strategic importance of a U.S.-based REEs supply chain. Our progress in 2024 reflects our commitment to creating shareholder value while supporting U.S. national security objectives."

Peak Project: Positioned for U.S.-Based Production

The Peak Project, located southeast of El Paso, Texas, remains a cornerstone of Tactical Resources' strategy. With key upstream operational permits in place through the partnership with the Sierra Blanca Quarry ("SBQ"), and access to REEs-enriched tailings from SBQ operations, the Peak Project is one of only a few direct-leach-extractable REE initiatives globally. Its strategic location and advanced readiness enhance Tactical Resources' ability to expedite its path to production and position it as a critical contributor to the U.S. REEs supply chain.

China's recently-announced export restrictions on critical minerals, including REEs, have further highlighted the need for diversified REE supply sources. As geopolitical tensions intensify, Tactical Resources is strategically positioned to mitigate these risks by providing a reliable U.S.-based supply of REE materials, which are essential for technologies such as semiconductors, electric vehicles, advanced robotics, and national defense.

Advancing Phase 1 Technical Work

Throughout 2024, Tactical Resources achieved key milestones in its Phase 1 technical work program at the Peak Project. The Company completed bench-scale and vat-leach testing, and the results will provide valuable insights into leach performance and recovery potential. Permeability testing and the development of a GeoMetallurgical database will provide a foundation for future production scenario planning. These achievements demonstrate the Company's technical rigor and commitment to operational excellence.

Strategic Alignment with U.S. National Defense Goals

In addition to its operational advancements, Tactical Resources' accomplishments in 2024 have reinforced its alignment with U.S. national defense objectives. REEs play a pivotal role in various defense applications, including advanced fighter jets and naval systems. The Company's efforts to establish a secure, U.S.-based supply chain for these critical materials position it as a trusted partner in bolstering national security.

Proposed Business Combination: A Path to Growth

The Proposed Business Combination with Plum represents a significant step forward for Tactical Resources. Currently expected to close in the first half of 2025, the Proposed Business Combination is expected to provide growth capital to support the Company's operations at the Peak Project and future development initiatives. At closing of the Proposed Business Combination, Tactical Resources' existing shareholders will convert 100% of their ownership stakes of Tactical Resources into a newly-formed public company ("Pubco"). Additional information regarding the Proposed Business Combination can be found in the disclosures made by Pubco and/or Plum with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") at www.sec.gov and in the disclosures made by Tactical Resources with the Canadian Securities Administrators (the "CSA") through SEDAR+ at www.sedarplus.ca.

Looking Ahead

As Tactical Resources prepares for 2025, the Company is focused on leveraging its 2024 accomplishments to advance its mission of becoming a leading producer of REE materials in the United States. The ongoing development of the Peak Project and closing of the Proposed Business Combination are expected to enable Tactical Resources to capitalize on growing market opportunities and deliver long-term value to its shareholders.
