In the Quarter, 426,268 carats were sold for $44 million (US$30.7 million), averaging $103 per carat (US$72 per carat). In Q1 2024, 938,310 carats were sold for $89.4 million (US$66.1 million), averaging $95 per carat (US$70 per carat).

Mark Wall, the Company's President and Chief Executive Officer, commented:

"Q1 is historically a challenging quarter for the operations. For Q1 of 2025 we saw the all- important total tonnes mined increase by 28% when compared to Q1 of 2024. As previously reported the first half of 2025 is focussed exclusively on stripping waste to reach the important high grade NEX orebody, and the improvements in mining performance have been a key focus area. Processing continued to go well, with a 15% improvement in Q1 2025 compared to Q1 of 2024. As we were treating low grade stockpiles while we strip waste to the NEX orebody we expected lower grades, although the stockpile grades performed below modelled grade with a processed grade of 0.82 carats per tonne. While the processing facility continued to perform very well, the low-grade stockpiles being treated resulted in low carat production for the quarter. During Q2 we will continue to work to find the best grade in the large stockpile we are treating, while we close in on accessing the high grade NEX orebody at the end of Q2"

Except for statements of historical fact relating to Mountain Province, certain information contained herein constitutes forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are frequently characterized by words such as "anticipates," "may," "can," "plans," "believes," "estimates," "expects," "projects," "targets," "intends," "likely," "will," "should," "to be," "potential" and other similar words, or statements that certain events or conditions "may", "should" or "will" occur. Many of these assumptions are based on factors and events that are not within the control of Mountain Province and there is no assurance they will prove to be correct.

Factors that could cause actual results to vary materially from results anticipated by such forward-looking statements include the development of operation hazards which could arise in relation to COVID-19, including, but not limited to protocols which may be adopted to reduce the spread of COVID-19 and any impact of such protocols on Mountain Province's business and operations, variations in ore grade or recovery rates, changes in market conditions, changes in project parameters, mine sequencing; production rates; cash flow; risks relating to the availability and timeliness of permitting and governmental approvals; supply of, and demand for, diamonds; fluctuating commodity prices and currency exchange rates, the possibility of project cost overruns or unanticipated costs and expenses, labour disputes and other risks of the mining industry, failure of plant, equipment or processes to operate as anticipated.

These factors are discussed in greater detail in Mountain Province's most recent Annual Information Form and in the most recent MD&A filed on SEDAR, which also provide additional general assumptions in connection with these statements. Mountain Province cautions that the foregoing list of important factors is not exhaustive. Investors and others who base themselves on forward-looking statements should carefully consider the above factors as well as the uncertainties they represent and the risk they entail. Mountain Province undertakes no obligation to update forward-looking statements if circumstances or management's estimates or opinions should change except as required by applicable securities laws. The reader is cautioned not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. Statements concerning mineral reserve and resource estimates may also be deemed to constitute forward-looking statements to the extent they involve estimates of the mineralization that will be encountered as the property is developed. Mineral resources are not mineral reserves and do not have demonstrated economic viability.

Further, Mountain Province may make changes to its business plans that could affect its results.
